Synopsis

There's no better introduction to Italy than the classic itinerary of Rome, Florence and Venice. Customer Reviews

Stephen Keeling has been traveling to Italy since 1985 (when a serving of gelato was 1000 lire), and covering his favorite nation for Frommer's since 2007. He has written for The Independent, Daily Telegraph, various travel magazines, and numerous travel guides as well as authored the award-winning Frommer's Family Travel Guide to Tuscany and Umbria. Stephen resides in New York City. Melanie Renzulli has been writing about Rome for guidebooks, magazines, and travel blogs for nearly 20 years. Twice a resident and many times a visitor, Melanie has explored the Italian capital from several different perspectives, opportunities that have given her unique insight into the city's major attractions and lesser-known wonders. While Melanie's favorite features of Rome change nearly every day, she's always up for peeking into an old church, ambling about ancient ruins, and stopping for an aperitivo. She resides with her family in Rome. Donald Strachan is a writer and journalist who has written about Italy for publications worldwide, including National Geographic Traveler, The Guardian, Sunday Telegraph, and The Independent. He resides in London, England.

Great transaction. Highly recommend.

Great book. Was very useful during our European trip.

Will really help us plan our vacation!

I am taking it with me on my trip. Lots of good information. I first borrowed it from the library and then decided I needed my own copy.

Great, easy to read guidebook.

The information in this guide was just fine. The problem is it fell apart! Within days of buying it had come apart at the binding into many pieces. Not good!

Somewhat disappointed in this guidebook.
