I highly recommend this book for any athlete!

Dr. Derek de la Pena does a wonderful job of integrating scripture into mental- game techniques that athletes can and should use in preparation and self analysis of their performance. This is a must read for any serious minded athlete who wants to understand how biblically sound doctrine can impact their sports performance.

Awesome and inspiring

Gave this to my 16-year-old grandson who is in to a lot of different sports and he says it is awesome. Gave him a different view of approaching his games and what he can learn from them.

I bought this book for my son -- who is a high school baseball player. I am not an athlete myself but before I gave the book to my son, I decided to read it. I found it to be an extremely pleasurable read, very interesting and I find myself applying the principles at work and in my daily life. On top of that -- my son says the book has really helped him to see certain parts of the game in a new light. I highly recommend this book.
