

The book was found

Textual Relations

Synopsis

Evolutionary psychology professor Henry Hathaway is ready to spend his birthday the same way he does every year: a good teeth cleaning followed by dinner with his brother. But when he receives a wrong-number text confirming the details of a date, he does what any considerate person wouldâhe goes to meet them and explain why they've been stood up. Asher Wescott hadn't expected his blind date to go well, because when do they ever? Henry shows up instead, and things are suddenly looking up. Socially awkward and attached to his routines, Henry is nevertheless one of the most charming and kind men Asher has met in a long time. Too bad he's not Henry's type. An accidental date, an impulsive kiss, and a few conflicted feelings later, can Asher get Henry to see the worldâand himâin a different light?

Book Information

File Size: 2109 KB

Print Length: 112 pages

Simultaneous Device Usage: Unlimited

Publication Date: August 6, 2017

Sold by:Â Digital Services LLC

Language: English

ASIN: B074MGXGW5

Text-to-Speech: Enabled

X-Ray: Not Enabled

Word Wise: Enabled

Lending: Not Enabled

Screen Reader: Supported

Enhanced Typesetting: Enabled

Best Sellers Rank: #2,923 Paid in Kindle Store (See Top 100 Paid in Kindle Store) #37 inÂ Kindle Store > Kindle eBooks > Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual & Transgender eBooks > Literature & Fiction > Gay Fiction #38 inÂ Books > Gay & Lesbian > Literature & Fiction > Fiction > Gay #46 inÂ Kindle Store > Kindle eBooks > Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual & Transgender eBooks > Romance > Gay Romance

Customer Reviews

That was the perfect read in between longer, more involved stories. Sometimes you just need a quickie, right?!? Great, likable characters and good chemistry, what more could you ask for?

Heart warming book with sweet characters and a small amount of large words that made me smile. Cotton candy read.

Short and sweet. Low angst. My favorite Cate Ashwood book so far:)

Here we have two men who are pretty much polar opposites. Henry is stuck in a rut, and he likes it that way. He likes to repeat everything the same way he's done it before. Talk about socially awkward! Is it Saturday? Well, then he's having a BLT with avocado sandwich. He's sweet, charming but it's difficult for him to try something new. When he receives a text obviously meant for someone else Henry feels compelled to find the person the text was meant for to let her know she's going to be stood up. Except she's a he. Henry is absolutely positive that he's straight. He just hasn't met the right woman yet. Ash is short for Asher, not Ashley, and Ash is gay. Ash doesn't do the same thing twice, including restaurants and dates. Until now. When Ash meets Henry he assumes Henry is also gay and after a kiss, which Henry liked very much, Henry doesn't know how to tell Ash that he's not gay. So, when Ash tries to call Henry the next day Henry doesn't know what to do except not answer the call. Gradually, Henry realizes he really would like to get to know Ash and maybe even repeat that kiss. This is a low drama story with very little angst and a lot of self discovery. Exactly what I enjoy reading. Henry and Ash discover what they like about each other, learn what makes each other tick, but when it comes down to where they go from here Henry realizes he's going to have to come out to his family. When he finally does, again, very little drama because his family loves Henry and accepts whatever makes him happy. They also like Ash very much. A sweet little story.

Henry Hathaway is a psychologist that likes routine. On his 32nd birthday he's doing what he routinely does since his 21st birthday, which is get his teeth cleaned by the dentist and have a meal with his brother. While out with his brother, he receives a text from a stranger confirming a date. Knowing the stranger didn't get the text Henry decides to go meet her and let her know what happened. Henry doesn't expect the stranger to be a guy named Asher Wescott. When Asher invites him to have a drink to thank him for his kindness Henry sees no reason to decline. The two end up having a nice time together. Then Asher kisses Henry at the end of the night and throws Henry into a bit of a loop. Henry isn't gay and being socially inept doesn't really know how to handle the situation when Asher calls. I thought this was a cute read albeit rushed. The cute meet was on point and I loved it. Henry came to terms with his sexuality quicker than I expected him to. I enjoyed seeing Henry and Asher's reaction to each other and how much change they brought into each other's life. An ARC was provided to me in exchange for an honest review.

Henry is a 32 year old psychologist teaching at the local university. It's his birthday and he's out to eat with his brother, a tradition. When he receives a few text from "Ash", a wrong number obviously. Henry decides to do the right thing and meet "her" and let her know she texted the wrong person. Asher, also known as Ash was waiting for his date when Henry walks in coming over to his table. When he explains about the text message, Ash introduces himself as Asher, then it clicked or something in Henry clicked. Spending the evening hanging out, Henry had a great time until the kiss. Henry wasn't gay, but he couldn't stop thinking about that kiss. This story was so awesome!! Henry finding himself and his own happiness with Asher. Asher also learning that sometimes being with someone more than once really can make you happy. This is definitely a great read, I want more of these guys!!! They are wonderful!

Download to continue reading...

Textual Sources for the Study of Judaism (Textual Sources for the Study of Religion) Textual Sources for the Study of Zoroastrianism (Textual Sources for the Study of Religion) Textual Relations The Textual Development of the Qumran Community Rule (Studies on the Texts of the Desert of Judah) (Oudtestamentische Studien,) Old Testament Textual Criticism: A Practical Introduction A Textual Companion to Handel's Messiah Nationalism and the Genealogical Imagination: Oral History and Textual Authority in Tribal Jordan (Comparative Studies on Muslim Societies) The Calligraphic State: Textual Domination and History in a Muslim Society (Comparative Studies on Muslim Societies) New Testament Textual Criticism: Its Significance for Exegesis An Introduction to Bibliographical and Textual Studies Textual Scholarship: An Introduction (Garland Reference Library of the Humanities) An Overview to the Public Relations Function (Public Relations Collection) Master The Mechanical Aptitude and Spatial Relations Test (Mechanical Aptitude and Spatial Relations Tests) Barron's Mechanical Aptitude and Spatial Relations Test, 3rd Edition (Barron's Mechanical Aptitude & Spatial Relations Test) A Strategic Understanding of UN Economic Sanctions: International Relations, Law and Development (Routledge Advances in International Relations and Global Politics) Contemporary U.S.-Latin American Relations: Cooperation or Conflict in the 21st Century? (Contemporary Inter-American Relations) Public Relations and Social Media for the Curious: Why Study Public Relations and Social Media? (A Decision-Making Guide to College Majors, Research & Scholarships, and Career Success) Public Relations Case Studies from Around the World (2nd Edition) Tolerance and Coercion in Islam: Interfaith Relations in the Muslim Tradition (Cambridge Studies in Islamic Civilization) Male-to-Female Crossdressing in Early Modern English Literature: Gender, Performance, and Queer Relations (Routledge Studies in Renaissance Literature and Culture)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help