Forty Days And Forty Nights - In Yemen: A Journey To Tarim, The City Of Light

Synopsis

Tarim is the setting of a forty day Dowra (intensive course in traditional Islamic sciences) that was attended by Ethar El-Katatney in summer 2008 for the purpose of religious learning and self development. This photo-diary weaves together her life-changing experiences, the fascinating people that she met, the historic places she visited and a few of the pearls of wisdom that were passed onto her by the respected scholars that she was privileged enough to spend time with. The reader is given a portrait of a place where real Islam has penetrated the heart of the people and is truly a way of life.

was used for a school report had lots of info that could be pulled from the book

It gives me an insight on how Tarim is like- its natural landscape, the people and also the way of life. Perfect for those student of knowledge who wishes to study there.

this is the authors account of her visit in 2008 to Tarim (a city situated in eastern Yemen) to complete a Darwa an intensive course of traditional Islamic science which would improve her religious learning and self development. Written as a 40 day diary the author describes her religious experiences, visits the historic places and the wisdoms she received. Islam at Tarim is a way of life adopted by the author. Quite good if you like this type of book.

Alhamdulillah, the book is an experience in itself. I will work to become a better person after reading it and will make the world better, Insha Allah. Thank you Ethar. You will find "I have no words" many times when the author talks about Tarim and its people. Allow me to borrow "I have no words" but only stars to rate this book. Ya Allah, end the war in Yemen, Aammeen.
