Bob Hampton, of Henderson, NV, is one of the country's most successful memory teachers. Since 1986, he has taught classes and individuals across the U.S. and helped everyone from school children to business men and women to actors. Bob started learning memory techniques because of poor grades due to attention deficit disorder. After applying memory techniques, his grades soared from a 2.3 in undergraduate studies to a 3.7 in his masters degree at Brigham Young University. In 2005, he developed a plan to put memory techniques to work remembering cards, and went on to become a national bridge champion in 2009. Natalia Becerra, of Henderson, Nevada, graduated from the Media Arts & Animation program at The Art Institute. She is constantly looking for new things to learn, creative ideas to share and different ways to express those ideas. Her passion for art has led her to explore the diverse possibilities offered by animation, illustration and sculpting.

While the memory concepts given are well known, they are more pertinent to card magic tricks than bridge. The price is rip off. Spend your efforts elsewhere.

The author recommends that you think up something "crazy" for each card, then that image will cause you to remember. He follows up less than vivid images that are supposed to aid you in the process. Very disappointing.

This book was a disappointment. It is a poorly done rehashing of the technique given in "The Memory Book" by Harry Lorayne and Jerry Lucas. Plus "The Memory Book" explains all the popular memory techniques - association, pegs, links, substitute words, memory palaces, etc. I suspect the authors of current memory books has read and adapted Lorayne's techniques.

I'm going to throw this book away so no other poor soul reads my copy. I've played duplicate bridge for 40 years and have never seen such drivel. A world class professional told me that it took him three of counting points and distribution and relating to the bidding before he could do it on every hand. That's why many of the chapters in Hugh Kelsey's fine books are titled "counting".

This booklet was a total rip off. Instead of remembering all the cards you have to remember associations for every card. This is the first purchase I have ever made from that I felt I was ripped off.

I do not think this book deserves any stars, it is a total waste of time and money. Why in the world would I want to memorize an animal, doll or some other object to remember a specific card. If I have to remember what object is the specific card I need, wouldn't it be easier just to remember the actual card? Mr. Hampton stick to playing and not teaching! The only reason this book received one star from me is it would not take the review without giving it at least one star.

if you like cartoons this is the book to buy. But be ware, that is all you get, I couldn't be more disappointed . Phonetic is a language all it own and this book does not do it justice . further more bought this books as a Christmas gift for my grandson, home from BC . Book did not arrive until 5 days after his return flight home. now the books have to be mailed to him. The price to mail is worth more than the book. "SAD"

Very skimpy content. This could have been written in 10 pages or perhaps even less. Glad I got the lower-price Kindle version, but probably would be happier had I not spent the money at all.
