Boomer's Big Surprise

Synopsis

Boomer knows something's up the day a shiny new bowl appears next to his, but imagine Boomer's surprise when he finds himself nose to nose with a new puppy! Just when Boomer thinks he's no longer top dog, he discovers there's room for two, and that the puppy is more than a new sibling—he's a new friend. Boomer's Big Surprise is filled with the same warmth and humor as the first two books in the Boomer series, and will have special appeal to any child facing the arrival of a new baby.

Customer Reviews

PreSchool-K In this latest book about Boomer the dog, another anxiety-producing situation is explored. This time it's the arrival of a puppy. When Baby, as the newcomer is called, enters the family, Boomer feels both confused and left out. He wondered if anyone would ever play with him. But then, Baby licks his nose and the fun begins, in the water in the dirt and all through the house! Boomer's canine reactions provide insight into the new sibling experience. His expressions of curiosity and dejected concern will garner sympathy from readers and allow them to see the pains and rewards that accompany any addition to a family. Following the lead of the text, the watercolor illustrations give a dog's-eye view of the world. Soft and pleasing, they make the most of the inherent cuteness of a golden retriever puppy. Delightful and emotionally satisfying. Martha Topol, Traverse Area District Library, Traverse City, MI Copyright 1999 Reed Business Information, Inc.

Boomer, the spunky golden retriever who starred in Boomer's Big Day (1994) and Boomer Goes to School (1996), is back in a new adventure. This time he gets a new dog sibling and has most of the same feelings young children have when there's a new baby in the house. First, Boomer is confused. Why is Baby eating when it isn't dinnertime yet? Then the green-eyed monster rears its head as Boomer watches Baby playing with Boomer's favorite toy and getting a belly rub. But just when Boomer is beginning to wonder whether anyone will ever play with him again, he feels a lick on his nose. It isn't long before Boomer and Baby are off and running--with Boomer leading the way. This delightful series may use a lovable family dog to play out common childhood events, but children will relate to Boomer's experience as easily as they would to a child's. Whyte, who actually owns a golden retriever named Boomer, has done another fine job depicting the action in flowing watercolors. A worthwhile addition to a fine series. Lauren Peterson

Though Boomer didn't seem as surprised as the title of this book would suggest, he did appear to be mildly intrigued and slightly put out by an addition to the house. Now, if he'd eaten the puppy, THAT would have been a surprise!

It looks like a very very very fantastic book because of the title and because it's cover and it's pictures

Was so happy to find this book. My son does these Living Books in school and whenever he does a new one, I try and get the actual book for home. Fast shipping, just as described. Thank you!

3-6 year olds illustrations were terrific - full of action as are golden retrievers! our family golden loves his tennis balls too (at least 60)

Great reader for a beginner

My son read this over and over again. It is a really cute book. I highly recommend it for everyone.

Love the Boomer series!

I think Boomer's Big Surprise is the cutest book. I think that because there is a cute puppy in it. One reason is Boomer is sad because the puppy is playing with Boomer's toys. And boomer wants to play with his toys. Boomer has a big box to sleep in. And the puppy gets to be petted and boomer doesn't. I think you should get Boomers Big Surprise now. By Elayna first grader
