Ted Andrews was an internationally recognized author, storyteller, teacher and mystic. A leader in the human potential, metaphysical fields, he has written over 50 books that have been translated into more than two dozen foreign languages. Ted was schooled in a variety of related holistic healing modalities, music therapy, herbal therapy, hypnotherapy, acupuncture and other alternative methods. A clairvoyant since childhood, he was a certified spiritual medium of almost 30 yrs. Throughout his lifetime, he worked with birds of prey, conducting educational classes in schools to help young people discover the wonder of nature. He also was a volunteer for Brukner Nature Center, just outside of Dayton, Ohio, helping care for the resident animal that were unable to return to the wild. He enjoyed his down time hanging out with his menagerie of animal on his farm.

Ted Andrews has put together some books for young people beginning their turn on the "wheel". My son and daughter found this book (and the first volume as well) to be helpful and the exercises enlightening. They have since moved on to more advanced training, and have passed this book on to their friends. The notes in the front to parents alleviates the worries from non-magically inclined adults :o) But I'll bet that they read it as well.

These series of books are great for kids learning their abilities.

I purchased this book for a friend's ten year old. I began reading it and was so impressed, I bought one for me to keep in my library for my grandchildren. It is an easy read and explains everything simply! I loved it and can't wait to get the rest of the series!

This is a wonderfully written book about dream exploration. Here you'll find solutions to your dreams, and how to keep dream journal(s). Many fascinating ways to dream journaling are here in this book. Excellent for beginners.
