Customer Reviews

"This is a book infused with grace." -- USA Today "Quietly eloquent." -- San Francisco Examiner "This exceptionally well-produced photo-documentary chronicles the work of Mother Teresa and the order she founded. Avoiding sentimentality, the photographs show the love of Christ in action."

--Christianity Today"Let us pray that this book will draw people to Jesus, help them realize how much God loves them, and help them to want to pray. Let it be for the glory of God and the good of His people." --Mother Teresa From the Introduction

Michael Collopy is one of the preeminent portrait photographers of our time, well known for his commissioned portraits of a variety of world figures ranging from Mikhail Gorbachev and Margaret Thatcher to Frank Sinatra and Placido Domingo. A student of such luminaries as Ansel Adams and Richard Avedon, Collopy's work has been published in books, magazines, newspapers, and on record and CD covers worldwide.

Such a wonderful person, recognized as a saint well before formally named as one. Michal Collopy's photographs capture her simplicity and most importantly show the daily life of the Missionaries of Charity as they minister to the poor and abandoned.

I have the book on my coffee table where visitors can browse it....and they do! A lovely pictorial.

I love this book, so personal and very inspirational. Everyone that has looked at it loves it too.

Beautiful, inspiring work of art!

A must read for any Catholic
