Synopsis

Back to School time means back to the booksâin this case, six fall-themed inspirational romance novellas with a teacher twist! Join six best-selling inspirational romance authors for stories that will fill your season with faith and love.

Their Forever Homecoming by Kristen Ethridge: Meg McMahon walked out of Dan Clarkâs life ten years ago with a secret, and Port Providentâs head football coach knows he doesnât deserve to ask his ex-wifeâs forgiveness. He bought the lies of the world and put his potential in the NFL above their young marriage. But when Meg returns to town, he knows heâs a changed man and wants to make things right between them. When one chance meeting in the school hallway changes everything, will they stay focused on the past or turn toward the future and a forever homecoming for the family theyâd tried to create so long ago?

No Substitute for You by Jessica Keller: Jaime Abbot longs for a place to belong, but she wonât find that with Hunter McCoyâthe man who left her brokenhearted years ago. When Hunter returns to Kingâs Cove with his daughter, Jaimeâs heart goes out to the struggling child. Determined to heal the little girlâs heart, Jaime agrees to watch her on the days Hunter has to substitute teach. Jaime begins to hope sheâs finally found the place where she belongs, but what if sheâs only a temporary substitute for the mom and wife they lost?

Love by the Letter by Cate Nolan: Emma Prescott always knew she wanted to be a teacher. Reading was a dirty word to Brady Howell. A diagnosis of dyslexia gave a name to his learning disability, but it didnât help the letters make sense. Only Emma did that, and the best friends were inseparable until Brady chose the cheerleader who made him feel good about himself, abandoning the girl who was a reminder of his disability. Now a single father, Brady is back and needs Emmaâs help. Emma is certain she can help his daughter learn to read, but does she dare risk her heart again for the only man who has the power to break it?

Back in the Cowboyâs Arms by Tina Radcliffe: Elle Reynolds is thrilled to be teaching in Paradise, Colorado, but is less than thrilled to discover the uncle and guardian of her favorite student is none other than Mitch Logan, the rodeo cowboy she left at the altar twelve years ago. When his niece is injured, Elle steps in to assist. Though Mitch is wary of Elle, he needs her to ensure his adoption paperwork is approved. Elle can see that Mitch has changed; the wild cowboy has become the perfect daddy. When Mitch finds himself falling for the woman who broke his heart, things get complicated. Can Elle and Mitch learn from the past and find their way to the perfect family?

Love So Strong by Merrilee Whren: When elementary school teacher Sedona Welch sets a goal to lose fifteen pounds, she doesnât expect to barter her tutoring services in exchange for personal training, especially with a handsome personal trainer. Cody Dunn has all he can deal with taking care of his eight-year-old nephew, Mason. Cody finds an ally in Sedona as she helps him negotiate the guardianship of this troubled boy. But he doesn't anticipate the attraction to his nephew's cute little tutor. Can well-meaning friends help this reluctant couple find a love so strong? His Not-So-High-School Sweetheart by Cheryl Wyatt: Two former teen sweethearts turned strangers find themselves back in the halls of their hometown high school, now as well-rounded teachers. As they face the challenges of working together, they discover that being civil and forgiving may be the easiest aspect of their unexpected new journey. Especially when the fate that tore them apart seems determined to put them back together- for good this time. These educators learn that reliance on Him has a way of turning two life-altering decisions into the second chance blessing of a first-rate future.

Customer Reviews

I tend to not read novellas, because I find that they don't have much of a plot and they feel rushed. Well, I have to say, that these stories are not your run of the mill novellas. Each is a story unto itself. I specially loved Their Forever Homecoming by Kristen Ethridge. Ms. Ethridge gives us a story filled with a complex plot as well as well developed characters. Dan Clark was the quarterback that fell in love with the Meg McMahon, the girl from the other side of the tracks. They married but divorced after 2 years and never met again. Meg returns to town to help her aunt and crosses Dan's path. Without divulging the plot, suffice it to say that it's a heartbreaking, heartwarming and thought provoking story about betrayal, trust, faith and forgiveness. Unconditional love is hard to give, but so worthwhile. Will these two resolve their differences. Have they matured after all this years and will they trust God and themselves to move forward? A book that will be worth your time. I was gifted this copy. The opinions expressed are solely my own.

This book set is worth at least double or triple the price. The stories are all unique and soooo well written. I fell for every hero with my "favorite" being the one who was dyslexic (because my brother is dyslexic and the author sure captured the angst well) Love, love, loved the stories and stayed up wayyyyyy too late (wee hours of morning) because I did NOT want to put my Kindle down. Work the next day was tough, but so worth the yawns because the read was great!!!! If you love good, clean romance with swoon worthy heroes and happy sigh endings, this book set is definitely a must get. I love these authors.

As a retired teacher, this unique fall collection let me experience the Back to School rush. As an avid reader, I was familiar with authors Jessica Keller and Merrilee Whren. In this delightful boxed set I discovered four new authors: Kristen Ethridge, Cate Nolan, Tina Radcliffe and Cheryl Wyatt. The novellas had well developed characters, who faced school related challenges and fears. Several had the theme: second chances. As a Michigander, I enjoyed Jessica Keller's Michigan setting in No Substitute For You, especially the King's Cove Autumn Apple Festival. My favorite novella was Cate Nolan's Love by the Letter. Cate Nolan's description of the first day of school from a teacher's perspective was spot on. She also did an excellent job explaining dyslexia, a problem many students face.

A set of six very good novellas from six different authors. I started this set because I wanted to read the author Merrilee Whren book, Love So Strong, which is included in the set. Whren did not disappoint me at all with her sweet story that includes an adorably eight year old boy Mason. Then I started reading all of them because it was so good. The authors include Kristen Ethridge, Jessica Keller, Cade Nolan, Tina Radcliffe, Merrilee Whren and Cheryl Wyatt. Some of these were authors I had read before and some were new. None disappointed me. Each author did an excellent job of weaving a romance around the back-to-school theme. Not back to school as in a student, but going back. Each novella is set in a different part of the country. As well as the romance in each book the whole set was inspiring as the challenges of forgiveness, peace with past mistakes, mending broken hearts, reliance on God for direction and second chances were a part of the novellas. Some very precious children were included in some of the stories. Dyslexia was addressed in one of the stories with good solid information that fit with the story. I like reading sets of books because generally the books are short and I can read one quickly. A good way to read a book in an evening. That was my plan but this one kept calling me to keep reading to the next one. So I read all six and recommend them to you to enjoy. I call it a five star set.

Perfect for back-to-school reading, these six stories will touch your heart, feed your soul, make you laugh, cheer your favorite characters on and delight in watching the romance unfold in each one. There wasn't one that stood out as a favorite because I enjoyed each one with its unique storyline and authors voice to bring it to life. These deal with real life issues such as forgiveness, overcoming past hurts, learning how to move on, forging a new life, and second chances all while relying on God's help and guidance. The faith message was clear in each one and had a something that spoke to me in different ways. I love when an author lets the light of Christ shine through! I fell in love with all the characters, especially when they featured children. They always add a fun factor! I also found these to draw me into the story quickly and never lacked depth or emotion, I found plenty of both in each one. A delightful mix of inspirational short stories to enjoy anytime of day or night and in any season! I received a complimentary copy of this collection. No favorable review was required and all opinions expressed here are my own. *

No Substitute for Love by Jessica Keller - 5 stars - excellent story of overcoming hurt! Really enjoyed this story coming full circle with closure! Everything made sense unlike some novellas where the reader has unanswered questions. Great characters! I can't wait to visit King's Cove again. Their Forever Homecoming by Kristen Ethridge - 4 stars - the author's love for football was apparent in this story. It's a story of forgiveness and making things right. Enjoyable story set in Port Provident. I was given an ARC copy of this set of novellas as a gift. No review was promised or requested.

Grab your favorite beverage, a cozy chair and cuddle up to read a great collection of back to school Christian romance novellas. We see God's grace, redemption, faith love and hope throughout the pages. This book is for those who love Christian romantic novellas with a back to school theme.
