In Camp And Battle With The Washington Artillery Of New Orleans: A Narrative Of Events During The Late Civil War From Bull Run To Appomattox And Spanish Fort (Classic Reprint)

Synopsis

Bull Run and Manassas, in July, 1861, an order was issued from the headquarters of Gen. Beauregard in reference to the posting, at the several fords over Bull Run, the different brigades and batteries of the Confederate forces under his command, to meet the advance of the array of invasion, under Gen. McDowell, then on its march towards Richmond from Washington. I remember the last sentence of the order; it read as follows: In the event of the defeat of the enemy he is to be pursued with cavalry and artillery until he is driven across the Potomac. After the affair of the 18th July, McDowell's advance having arrived at Centreville, orders were issued, on the night of the 20th, or the morning of the 21st, July, to Generals Ewell, D. R.
