Gr 4-6-Plucky red-headed Lily Robbins feels clumsy and is picked on by her brothers and Chad, the class bully, in Rue's first title (Zonderkids, 2000) in the series. When a modeling agency representative drops by her school to give tips on poise, the rep suggests Lily take modeling classes. Her parents and annoying brothers don't take it seriously, but Lily shows dedication to her lessons and hopes that the final fashion show will prove to everyone that she isn't a klutz. Her father questions her aspirations and challenges her to find God in modeling. Lily struggles with this, even as the author shows Lily offering encouragement to the other girls in her class who are picked on by Chad, and creating a Girlz club and teaching them what she's learned about developing self-confidence. Just when the story seems headed to an easy solution, a grease fire burns Lily's face and seriously injures her father. Faith plays a larger role in the second half of the story as Lily deals with guilt. Tara Sands's narration is right on the mark for tween girls. She does an excellent job of voicing all the characters, breathing life and realism into Lily's family. Sands's inflections make even the club members easily distinguishable. Many girls will identify and commiserate with Lily and her friends in this novel with a Christian basis.-C. A. Fehmel, St. Louis County Library, MOÃ Â (c) Copyright 2011. Nancy Rue has written over 100 books for girls, is the editor of the Faithgirlz Bible, and is a popular speaker and radio guest with her expertise in tween and teen issues. She and husband, Jim, have raised a daughter of their own and now live in Tennessee.

Typical Lily: "Lily $\tilde{A}f\tilde{A}\phi\tilde{A}$ \tilde{a} $\tilde{A}\tilde{A}$, $\tilde{\phi}s$ brother Art said Lily $\tilde{A}f\tilde{A}\phi\tilde{A}$ \tilde{a} $\tilde{A}\tilde{A}$, $\tilde{\phi}s$ hair always looked like it was enough for thirty-seven people the way it stuck out all over her head. But most important of all, Reni was as petite and dainty as a toy poodle, not tall and leggy like a giraffe. At least that was the way Lily thought of herself. Even now, as they walked into the library, Lily tripped on the wipe-your-feet mat and plowed into a rolling rack of books."A new start. A lady from a modeling agency came over to Lily's school and showed the sixth-graders how to take care of their body. For once, Lily didn't feel like a giraffe. She felt special, no matter what Shad or her brothers had to say. And then that lady asks her to try out for modeling classes. Could life get any better? Lily is getting more and more poise with every class, and she loves passing on lessons to her friends. But even more Lily just can't wait until the show! Won't Shad be amazed! He won't ever make fun of anyone again. What could go wrong, right?"Here's Lily" is a great middle-school book that dives into the issue of self-esteem. Lily learns that it's not about makeup or hairstyle. It's not even really about self-confidence and being assertive. It's about being confident in who God made one to be! Lily can only get through the hard times with God's help, and she learns to trust Him."Here's Lily" is the first in the fourteen-book Lily series.

My daughter and I felt that the story dragged for sometime but picked up toward the end of the book. The book did have a good moral but my daughter still doesn't have a definitive feeling about Lilly. We purchased one other Lilly book at the same time and will make a more definitive decision on continuing the series after reading that one.

THIS. WAS. A. GREAT. BOOK. not joking either. It sucks that the next book is so expensive. I would love to read it.

I really loved this book! It just kept me so interested and I really wanted to see what would happen next.

I didn't like that they talked so much about shad he annoyed mel LOVED EVERYTHING ELSE! $ilde{A}f\hat{A}$ $ilde{A}$ $ilde{A}$ ilde positive reading for our girls:)

my copy arrived today and instead of the cover being in color, it's black and white. Not a huge deal but the other 3 I ordered were fine. Kinda wondering why this particular book cover shows color but came differently.

I love this book. It has so much confidence. Maybe it will give me more confidence. I love books that help me get to know God.
