MARY POPE OSBORNE is the author of the New York Times number one bestselling Magic Tree House series. She and her husband, writer Will Osborne (author of Magic Tree House: The Musical), live in northwestern Connecticut with their three dogs. Ms. Osborne is also the coauthor of the companion Magic Tree House Fact Trackers series with Will, and with her sister, Natalie Pope Boyce. SAL MURDOCCA has illustrated more than 200 children's trade and text books. He is also a librettist for children's opera, a video artist, an avid runner, hiker, and bicyclist, and a teacher of children's illustration at the Parsons School of Design. Sal lives and works in New York with his wife, Nancy.

My 6 year old is just beginning to read and these books are educational so we read these now at night. Every night we spend a half an hour or so to read a few chapters and then talk about what we learned. I also used to read these with my son who is now `16. I actually really enjoy these books and to tell you the truth I read ahead sometimes because I want to know what happens. These are great for bonding with your child or for your child to read on their own. They teach a lot in every book and makes you want to get to the next chapter. I am so happy that both my kids love these books.

My daughter loves so much these book series. When arrived, she couldn't put down the books:) Books especially good for exercising the imaginations, the pictures, characters, persons are not "ready" as in dvd stories. Psychologically books much better than dvd stories, books are doesn't make the kids frustrated, doesn't cause bad behavior, books even helps to deal with feelings what they can't describe.

I started this series for my 6 year old grandson. Book 1, hooked. Even the adults were hooked. The book drew in the curious mind of my grandson who stopped me occasionally as we read book 1/book 2 so he could make notes to figure out some of the things the characters were trying to figure out. He is not able to read this series on his own but this doesn't matter, I'm a firm believer that parents should be a part of our children's reading. So now all of us talk about the stories. It is a treat to be able to ask about the story over the phone and be able to maintain a phone conversation with substance other than everyday happenings. As I'm told by my son, my grandson lights up when he finds out some of his friends are also reading the series sparking further conversation that is so important in growing up. Sharing, I've been told he is willing to share the first books I got him with his friends. So basically, this is a hit and I will continue to purchase the series to the end. I'm a long distance grandparent and this book series just adds to our special relationship. I would highly recommend to any child who enjoys reading or is on the fence.

I purchased the first 8 books to read to my 5 years old grandtwins. They enjoyed the first 6, but have lost interest for now perhaps because of the predictive language and repeated refrains. I also have read the series to my first grade students in the past, and found that for some children the interest in reading was sparked. That's a good thing. I'd suggest if interested, just try the first few books and see if your child wants to hear or read more in the series.

We started trying to get our 3 year old to sit longer before bedtime to read books (to help calm him down) and grabbed the Ice Wizard book first. Our son loved it so much that we have since purchased a number more. Our son will soon be 4 and we are pleased that this will be among his birthday presents. These books are fun for kids, and introduce them to concepts that they might not know of. (Especially since we don't watch a lot of tv). There are few illustrations however the story keeps kids interested. We can't wait until our son can read these on his own.

great little set for my son - he's enjoyed these Jack and Annie books and keeps going with them.
this little box set was great

Bought as a birthday gift. The birthday girl was delighted. I was surprised at how quickly they arrived. So much better than roaming through Barnes and Noble searching for books!! Price was great!

My six year old kindergartener grandson love these books!! So totally worth getting them for him!
