Customer Reviews

In the fifth measure the music is written to play an A with the left hand, but the note should be a C. That's the first mistake. Page 4 starts out neglecting to mention that the F in the bass clef is sharp. I think there's at least one more mistake somewhere. Other than that I like the arrangement. I don't know if it is a simplified version or the original, but it sounds great and is a challenge for someone like me who has a very modest talent for piano. Too bad nobody proof read the final draft. Kind of insulting to Scott Joplin to put his name on it.

This edition has several wrong notes! Masterpiece, ha!

There were several inaccurate notes as I compared it to my other music.

Most of the online scores out there are more basic than what I was looking for. This one will take me a little while to get down, and it sounds great.

There are several different printed sheet music version of The Entertainer available. I bought this one for comparison purposes. It is printed better on the page, less cluttered, easier to read.

It was what I expected to get. It came in the mail pretty quickly. I like that it is the entire arrangement.

Not much to add, it is sheet music. As expected.
